- (c) The Licensee has failed to fulfill its obligations under these regulations.
- (d) The Licensee has failed to comply with orders or requests of the Authority, or failed to do so in a timely manner.
- (e) The Licensee has ceased to carry on custodial services covered by the License for more than 12 (twelve) months.

18. The Authority's revocation, suspension, or modification of a Custodian's License may apply to all or a part of the business operations, services or products of the Custodian.

Capital Requirements & Capital Adequacy

19. A Licensee who holds a license from the Maldives Monetary Authority is exempt from maintaining extra capital in relation to Permitted Custodial Services provided or undertaken under its Custodian's License. The Authority, however, may impose such requirements on such a Licensee case-by-case basis depending on the scope and nature of the Permitted Custodial Services.

- (a) A licensee under this regulation is required to have a minimum paid up & authorized capital as prescribed by the Authority

- (b) A licensee under this regulation is required to meet the capital adequacy requirements as prescribed by the Authority

Licensing Conditions

20. The License issued under this Regulation is specific to an applicant to whom it is issued (“Licensee” or “Custodian”) and shall not be transferable.
21. A Custodian shall confine its activities to the safekeeping of assets for Customers and any other of the permitted Custodial Services included within the scope of the Custodian’s License. It shall not directly or indirectly enter any other business or offer, sell or provide any other services or products, whether or not ancillary to the provision of the custodial services for which it is licensed, without obtaining prior approval of the Authority, excepting those businesses that it was performing at the time the license was issued.
22. A Custodian must maintain, administer, record, account and render reports on custodial assets separately and apart from its own accounts and those of each and every other Customers account.
23. The custodian shall facilitate on-site surveillance and inspection and other regulatory activities undertaken by the Authority allowing access to the Custodian’s premises and provide support to designated Authority’s personnel.
24. A licensed Custodian shall abide by the Corporate Governance Code set by the Authority.
25. A Custodian must at all times comply with the relevant provisions in the Maldives Securities Act, Banking law, Pension Act, any law or regulations applicable to collective investment schemes, and all applicable regulations issued by the Authority.
26. A custodian must follow directions given under this regulation.
27. Any director or key management of a Custodian who may have access to Custodial Assets or Customer accounts, either directly or through authority to draw upon such funds to direct generally the disposition of such securities shall be bonded by a reputable insurance company against larceny and embezzlement in reasonable amounts reflecting his or her access to such assets and accounts.
28. The Authority retains the authority to impose additional conditions on its issuance of a Custodian’s License.

Notification of Changes in Particulars of Licensee

29. Changes to shareholdings and the Key Management of the Licensee:
- (a) Except for licensees which are companies listed on the Maldives Stock Exchange, all Licensees must inform the Authority within seven days of any changes to the shareholding structure.

(b) All Licensees shall inform the Authority of the consummation of a merger or acquisition, or any similar transaction, and the purchase or sale of business units in all cases where;

- i. a significant portion of its operations is to be transferred,
- ii. custodial assets or Customer accounts are to be transferred between two Custodians, or between a Custodian and another person, or
- iii. the resulting capital structure or financial position of the Licensee will be materially different than presented in its application.

(c) The Licensee must seek and obtain the approval of the Authority prior to making any changes to the directors and key management.

30. Each Custodian shall notify the Authority of any change of particulars not identified in the preceding sections from those submitted in the application for a license and any further material change to its business operations within 15 (Fifteen) days of the change.

31. Any Custodian who fails to notify the Authority of any change of particulars in the timeframes required shall be liable to pay a penalty of 1,000 Rufiyaa (One Thousand Rufiyaa) that the default subsists, and its Custodial License, and any other license issued by the Authority that it holds, may be suspended. If the person is holding a Custodial License or other license issued by the Authority, its license shall be suspended if the period of default exceeds 30 (thirty) days.

Permitted Custodial Services under Custodian's License

32. An applicant seeking a Custodian's License shall identify the services and products it plans to offer and provide under the license.

33. Custodian's licensed under this regulation shall be responsible for;

- (a) the safekeeping of all property a Customer may entrust, including securities, cash and other assets it may agree to safe keep in accordance with a Custodial Agreement and;
- (b) any of the additional Permitted Custodial Services it has identified on the application upon which the Custodian's License was issued and which it has agreed to provide to a particular Customer under a Custodial Agreement.

34. No Custodian shall agree to take responsibility for and perform any Permitted Custodial Services without such services having been included on its application for license, and within the scope of the custodian's license issued to it. Regardless of proper licensing, no Custodian shall perform such services without having proper capacity to do so, and adequate risk management procedures, processes and internal controls in place such that it can reasonably ensure it can fully perform the agreed services.

Custodial Agreements

35. No Custodian shall provide custodial services to a Customer unless it has a duly executed and effective Custodial Agreement with the Customer. A Custodial Agreement shall contain provisions that state the following:

- (a) The Custodian's duties and responsibilities and the manner by which the Custodian shall perform its duties and responsibilities;
- (b) Terms that require the portfolio securities if any to be segregated and marked in such a manner as to clearly identify them as the property of the Customer;
- (c) Remuneration of the Custodian and the manner by which fees and charges are determined and assessed and paid;
- (d) Procedure for the reversal of the transaction;
- (e) A general warranty that all requirements of all pertinent Maldivian laws and regulations are, and will be continually satisfied by the Custodian;
- (f) Frequency and nature of regular reports to the Customer on their accounts, as negotiated, but no less than quarterly;
- (g) Notice provisions for the Custodian's actions (or failures to act) that may violate the Custodial Agreement, in which timely written notice is to be provided to the Customer after the violation occurred;
- (h) Procedures and requirements for the termination of the Custodial Agreement and the time and manner by which the Customers' assets and all relevant records are transferred to a substitute or new Custodian; and
- (i) Any other provisions agreed by the Custodian and Customer.

Delegation

36. Notwithstanding the non-transferability of a Custodian's License, the Licensee may delegate any function to any person to assist it in carrying out its responsibilities under these regulations or a Custodial Agreement, except the Custodian is prohibited from making any delegation that would:

- (a) violate this or any law or regulation;
- (b) breach its Custodial Agreement with its Customer, which may include negotiated limitations on delegation; or

- (c) release, or result in the release of, documents into the possession of a third party without the consent of the Customer.
37. Any such delegation shall be in writing, and the person to whom responsibilities are delegated (hereinafter “Delegate”) must agree to exercise prudence and diligence, in accordance with industry best practices or a higher standard of care, in performing the delegated responsibilities.
38. A Custodian delegating under the preceding sections shall remain liable for the services, products, activities and obligations that it has delegated if the Delegate is an affiliated person of the Custodian or Customer.
39. Except as provided in section 38, a Custodian will not be responsible by virtue of this regulation for any act or omission of the Delegate, if the Custodian can show that;
- (a) it exercised due diligence in determining the Delegate’s competence to perform delegated functions,
 - (b) such delegation was prudent and reasonable,
 - (c) the Custodian had exercised diligence and taken reasonable care to ensure the Delegate remained competent to perform the delegated responsibilities at all times, and
 - (d) the Custodian had prudently monitored the Delegate’s performance.

Risk Management and Internal Controls

40. Each Custodian shall establish and maintain internal controls, policies and procedures relating to the safekeeping of Custodial Assets and the Permitted Custodial Services that it has contractually agreed to provide to Customers.
41. Each Custodian shall designate and specifically identify to the Authority on its application for license a qualified person to serve as its Chief Compliance Officer (“CCO”). The designation of CCO does not preclude the CCO from holding any other position within the Custodian’s business, provided that the person can discharge the duties of a CCO in light of his or her other responsibilities.
42. The CCO shall be responsible for:
- (a) Establishing and maintaining the compliance manual described below and updating it on no less than an annual basis, and
 - (b) Providing to the Board of Directors of the Custodian (or the equivalent thereof) with a report documenting the Custodian’s compliance policies and procedures processes for establishing, maintaining, enforcing, reviewing, testing, and modifying compliance policies and processes on no less than an annual basis

43. The internal controls, policies and procedures shall be set forth in writing in a compliance manual. The compliance manual shall -

- (a) Identify control and policy objectives, which shall be designed to take into account the nature and scope of services that the Custodian provides to its Customers, the services and standards of performance with which it holds itself out to the Customers and public;
- (b) Describe the internal controls, policies and processes established and how they are administered, including those controls, policies and processes relating to the safeguarding of cash and securities held on behalf of Customers, account set up and maintenance, processing of income and transactions, reconciliation of funds and security positions, and Customer reporting;
- (c) Identify the officers and supervisors employed by the Custodian who have responsibility for effectively carrying out the policy and executing the procedures and processes it describes, and;
- (d) Provide a process for monitoring and revising the internal controls, policies and processes.

44. The internal controls, policies and procedures shall be properly designed to mitigate against risks inherent in performing custodial services and the particular services and products the Custodian provides to its Customers, and to ensure;

- (a) the safeguarding of both the firm's and its Customer assets (including but not limited to custodial assets) against unauthorized use or disposition and the prompt detection of such misuses;
- (b) the maintenance of proper accounting and other applicable records, and the reliability of the information;
- (c) the prompt detection of misuses; and
- (d) compliance with all relevant legal and regulatory requirements.

45. Each Custodian shall have its Chief Executive Officer certify annually that it has in place processes to establish, maintain, review, test and modify written compliance policies and supervisory procedures reasonably designed to achieve compliance with applicable laws, regulations, and contractual obligations.

46. The Chief Executive Officer of the Custodian shall conduct meetings on no less than a quarterly basis with the CCO.

Books and Records to be maintained by Custodians

47. The Custodian must keep such records as are necessary to enable it to comply with the rules in these Regulations and to demonstrate that it has achieved such compliance.

Appointment and Removal of Auditor

48. A Custodian shall, within one month of obtaining a Custodian's License, appoint or confirm the appointment of an independent qualified auditor acceptable to the Authority to audit the financial accounts of the Custodian.
49. A Custodian shall notify the Authority of the appointment or confirmation of the appointment of an auditor within 15 (fifteen) days of the appointment.
50. The Custodian shall ensure that annual financial statements required under this regulation are prepared and submitted to its appointed auditor for audit.
51. An auditor may, by notice in writing to a Custodian, resign as auditor.
52. An auditor who resigns, or who is terminated by a Custodian shall immediately upon taking the decision to resign or upon being informed of its termination by a Custodian, shall immediately notify the Authority in writing about the resignation or termination, indicating the date effective and stating reasons for the resignation or termination, including an explanation of any problems related to its examination or auditing activities that contributed to the resignation or termination.

Functions and Responsibilities of Auditor

53. The auditor shall verify by actual examination no less than annually the assets held by the Custodian on behalf of Customers with which it has entered into and maintains Custodial Agreements.
54. The auditor shall confirm all cash, securities and other assets held by the Custodian on behalf of Customers, including by physical examination of securities, if applicable, and reconcile all assets to the books and records of custodial accounts of Customers maintained by the Custodian and the books and records of Customers and service providers.
55. The audit report issued by the auditor shall include the auditor's opinion regarding the financial accounts.
56. The auditor must notify the Authority within one business day of all material discrepancies uncovered during the examination.

Internal Control Audit and Report

57. A Custodian shall obtain no less frequently than once each calendar year, a written internal control report prepared by an independent, qualified auditor acceptable to the Authority, which should be different to the auditor identified to conduct the audit of financial accounts under section 48

58. The internal control report must include the auditor's opinion as to whether the internal controls, processes and procedures that the Custodian has put in operation are suitably designed for the activities and services undertaken, are effectively employed, tested and revised by the Custodian, and satisfy control objectives identified in the compliance manual.

59. The auditor must notify the Authority within one business day of any material discrepancies uncovered during the examination.

Annual Submission of Financial Statements and Audit Reports

60. The Custodian shall submit on an annual basis to the Authority the following:

- (a) The annual financial statements which shall include a section on custodial services;
- (b) The financial audit report and opinion of the auditor;
- (c) The internal control report and opinion of the auditor; and
- (d) Confirmation in writing from the Chief Executive Officer and Chairperson of the Board of Directors that the Custodian remains in full compliance with relevant laws and regulations, and, if not, disclosing areas of violation and actions taken to redress.

61. Where the auditor's opinion is qualified as to the completeness or accuracy of the underlying records and data examined, the report shall, when submitted by the Custodian, be accompanied by a written document signed by two directors of the Custodian, stating:-

- (a) whether all the accounting records of the Custodian have been made available to the auditor for the purposes of his audit; and
- (b) whether all transactions undertaken by the Custodian have been properly reflected and recorded in the Custodian's accounting records.

Duty to act in the Interest of Customers

62. It shall be unlawful for a Custodian to act in a manner that is misleading, or knowingly omit material facts or engage in other fraudulent acts and practices in connection with the conduct of a custodial business.

63. As a fiduciary, a Custodian owes its Customers undivided loyalty, and shall not engage in activity that conflicts with a Customers' interest without the Customers' consent.

64. Where the Custodian is of the opinion that an instruction, direction, transaction or similar activity (hereinafter "Transaction") is not permitted under this regulation or outside the scope of its Custodian's License, the terms of the pertinent Custodial Agreement or any other relevant foundation documents (such as an agreement between a Customer and an asset manager), the Custodian may refuse to execute the Transaction, require the asset manager to cancel the Transaction or make a corresponding disposal or acquisition to secure restoration of the previous situation and to meet any resulting loss or expense. In such cases the Custodian shall immediately inform the Customer.

65. A person who acts in breach of section 62,63, or 64 commits an offence and is liable to pay a penalty as provided for under section 59 of the Maldives Securities Act.

Provisions of Written Disclosure Statement and Annual report to Customers or Prospective Customers

66. A Custodian shall furnish each Customer or prospective Customer with its most recently issued annual report written disclosure statement, describing the Custodian's business practices and educational and business background, and this statement shall be delivered:

- (a) at least 48-hours (forty eight) before entering into any custodial agreement with a Customer, or
- (b) at the time of entering into the custodial agreement with a Customer if the agreement permits the Customer to terminate the agreement within 5 (five) business days after entering into the agreement without paying penalty.

67. A Custodian shall furnish each existing Customer an updated written disclosure statement and make available its most recent annual report without charge.

68. The information that should be included in the written disclosure statement should include, but not be limited to matters described in section 66 and, the following items:

- (a) Date upon which the Custodian's License was first issued and the date of its most recent renewal (if renewed or amended in scope);
- (b) Description of the scope of its Permitted Custodial Services under its Custodian's License;
- (c) Type of custodial services offered and;
- (d) whether service fees charged are on percentage basis, hourly basis, fixed fee basis, subscription fee basis, transactional basis or other specified basis.

69. A Custodian shall also disclose to any Customer or prospective Customer all material facts with respect to:

- (a) A financial condition of the Custodian or an affiliate that is reasonably likely to impair the ability of the Custodian to meet contractual commitments to its Customer,
- (b) The extent to which the custodian or affiliate has discretionary authority or custody over such Customers' custodial assets or other funds or securities;

(c) Any legal or disciplinary event that is material to an evaluation of the custodian's integrity or ability to meet contractual commitments to Customers

70. The Authority may bring any necessary changes to this regulation as it deems appropriate from time to time. The Authority may also waive some provisions of this regulation after due consideration by the Board of Directors of the Authority.
